IRC Single Event Rating (SER)

Conditions of Issue and Use

1. A 'Single Event Rating' (SER) is an IRC rating (TCC) issued by the IRC Rating Authority for use by a GBR or FRA boat for one race or regatta (or part of) comprising races run over not more than 9 consecutive days including any lay days.

Organising Authorities shall apply to the IRC Rating Authority for permission to accept GBR or FRA boats holding Single Event Ratings in their event, for all or selected classes. In addition to invoking IRC Rules, the Notice of Race shall include:

With the permission of the IRC Rating Authority, IRC Rule 8.2 is modified to include GBR or FRA boats holding Single Event Ratings.

[if selected classes then add "..in the following classes:..."]

The IRC Rating Authority will supply an Organising Authority with data for each GBR boat holding a valid Single Event Rating for that race or regatta. FRA boats applying to enter the event using an SER must supply the organiser with a copy of the SER datasheet and rating. Organising Authorities shall not use the information in this for scoring any boat in any race other than those for which the Single Event Rating is valid.

2. An IRC certificate will not be issued. Boats will be issued with a datasheet showing the data used for calculation of the rating approximately 21 days before the relevant event. Copies of this datasheet will be available (on payment of a fee) to interested parties under the same conditions as the supply of copy certificates defined by IRC Rule 8.14.
3. Single Event Ratings will not appear on IRC TCC listings.

9. Boats holding Single Event Ratings, whether valid or expired, will not be permitted to run trial IRC TCCs but may submit different data for separate events.

10. Except with the express permission of the IRC Rating Authority, the validity of a Single Event Rating shall be consecutive days only, including lay days.
11. A boat may not hold Single Event Ratings for more than two separate events in any certificate year.
